

White-water Rafting

The rivers near Yellowstone National Park and Grand Teton National Park are great places for fun and excitement. Paddlers can laugh and scream their way through the bubbling water while surrounded by beautiful scenery. If you brave the rapids with your family and friends, be careful. You're bound to get wet!

When you're not paddling, watch for bald eagles and golden eagles fishing and eating along the rivers.

